Effective April 28, 1993, school districts may employ a person holding a coaching authorization as a head coach in any interscholastic athletic activity.

House File 275, signed by Governor Terry E. Branstad on April 28, 1993, states as follows:

"The board of directors of a school district may employ for head coach of any interscholastic athletic activities or for assistant coach of any interscholastic athletic activity, an individual who possesses a coaching authorization issued by the board of educational examiners or possesses a teaching license with a coaching endorsement issued pursuant to chapter 272. However, a board of directors of a school district shall consider applicants with qualifications described below, in the following order of priority:

1. A qualified individual who possesses a valid teaching license with a proper coaching endorsement.
2. A qualified individual who possesses a coaching authorization issued by the board of educational examiners.

Qualifications are to be determined by the board of directors or their designee or (sic) a case-by-case basis."

Therefore, the previous distinctions between the coaching endorsement and the coaching authorization have been eliminated.

Anyone holding a current, valid coaching authorization is eligible to serve as a head coach in any interscholastic athletic activity.
